Shopping for clothes

Let's go shopping for clothes online! You're going to look at two of Britain's favourite clothes shops and compare them.

The link for Marks and Spencer is <http://www.marksandspencer.com/> and the link for Next is <http://www.next.co.uk/index.asp>
Put a tick (✓) if the answer is yes, or add the information.

| | Marks and Spencer | Next |
|--|-------------------|------|
| On the homepage: are there clothes for men, women and children? can you also buy things for the home? is there a sale on? | | |
| Find and click on Women : on the left hand side how many collections are there? | | |
| Open a collection and find something you like. Click on the photo to make it bigger: how much does it cost? is it made of cotton? does it come in different colours? what button do you click if you want to buy it? | | |
| Click on Kids / Children at the top of the page: the clothes are for children of what age? Have a look at the clothes, which shop... ...seems more expensive? ...has nicer clothes do you think? | | |
| At the top of the page key in t-shirt and click Search : which shop has the most results? on that page, which shop has the most expensive t-shirt? | | |
| Have a look at the clothes, which shop do you prefer? Which online shop is the easiest to use? | | |
